Nous Group is the largest Australian-owned management consulting firm, with 300 people across eight locations in Australia and the UK. We partner with leaders on grand challenges to shape effective government, world-class businesses and empowered communities. We are bold and engaging, delivering performance and positive influence for our clients and their communities.

Strategy – We answer complex strategic questions by combining market and business analytics with industry knowledge and engagement.

Digital & design – We design digital strategies, products and services for a dynamic, customer-centric world.

Organisational performance – We design and realign businesses to lift performance.

Transformation – We balance analytical rigour and a deep understanding of your culture and people to deliver lasting outcomes.

Leadership & talent – We mobilise and develop leaders, and facilitate large-scale learning so that your people are committed and enabled to do extraordinary things.

Public policy – We provide compelling, innovative and well-targeted public policy advice to government to improve social and economic outcomes.

Our recognised experts challenge conventional wisdom. We think carefully and collaborate closely for a positive, co-produced and engaging experience.

We were named ‘Best Management Consulting Firm’, ‘Best Provider to Government & Community’ and ‘Most Cost Conscious Firm’ in the 2017 AFR Client Choice Awards.
UniSuper

UniSuper is Australia’s dedicated superannuation fund for people working in the higher education and research sector.

With more than 400,000 members and around $70 billion in net assets under management, we’re one of Australia’s largest super funds.

For more than 30 years, UniSuper has worked alongside Australia’s universities and research institutes delivering high quality, value-for-money retirement saving products and services.

We’re proud of the contribution the higher education sector makes in Australia and are thrilled to be the major sponsor at the 2018 CEDA Vice-Chancellors panel.
The Northern Beaches stretches from Palm Beach to Manly and boasts more than half of all the beaches in Sydney. It is home to more than 266,000 people residing in almost 100,000 dwellings. The area is characterised by an active lifestyle set against a backdrop of incredible natural beauty, vibrant villages and town centres, backed by great services and infrastructure.

Our residents are highly educated and professional, with 32% having Bachelor Degree or above (significantly higher than the 23% NSW average), with nearly half of employed residents living and working locally.

The Northern Beaches has a strong and diverse economy which generated $19.94 billion in Gross Regional Product in 2016/17 (the third largest contributor in NSW after the City of Sydney and Parramatta). There are over 31,000 businesses with the “Health Care and Social Assistance” sector the largest employer. This sector is set to grow with the opening of the new Northern Beaches Hospital at Frenchs Forest on 30 October. The Greater Sydney Commission now recognises the area as a “health and education precinct”.

Northern Beaches Council employs 1,800 people making it the largest employer in the region and has an annual operating budget of $485M.

Our organisation is committed to delivering the highest quality service, valued and trusted by our community. In turn we are committed to making our quality of life on the Northern Beaches the best it can be.
Professor Attila Brungs
Vice-Chancellor and President, University of Technology Sydney

Professor Attila Brungs is the Vice-Chancellor and President of the University of Technology Sydney. He has previously held senior positions with CSIRO and McKinsey & Company.

Professor Brungs is a Rhodes Scholar with a Doctorate in Inorganic Chemistry from Oxford University and a University Medal in Industrial Chemistry from the University of New South Wales.

Some of Professor Brungs’ present key appointments include the StartupAus Board, Sydney School of Entrepreneurship Board; the NSW Innovation and Productivity Council; Convenor, NSW Vice-Chancellor’s Committee; Chair, UniProjects; and the Federal Government’s National University Precincts Advisory Committee.

His experience includes many distinguished past board and committee memberships, including not-for-profit organisations, in addition to numerous state and federal government and institutional appointments.
speaker

Professor Mike Calford
Provost, The Australian National University

Professor Calford commenced at the ANU in March 2018. He has served in senior leadership in Australian higher education for more than 15 years. His leadership roles included Provost at the University of Tasmania, Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Research) at the University of Newcastle and Pro Vice-Chancellor (Health and Medical Research) at the University of Wollongong.

In addition to his university leadership career, Mike Calford is a leading researcher in the field of neuroscience. After receiving a doctorate at Monash University, Mike held research and teaching roles at the Universities of Queensland and Melbourne, and at ANU. He also worked overseas at the University of Oxford, the University of California Irvine and City University of New York.

During his academic career, Professor Calford has received many prestigious research fellowships and awards, including a Queen Elizabeth II Fellowship. From 2015 to 2017 Professor Calford chaired the review committee for the Australian Code for Responsible Conduct of Research.
Professor Greg Craven AO, GCSG
Vice-Chancellor and President, Australian Catholic University

Professor Greg Craven is a lawyer, and academic, and has been Vice-Chancellor and President of Australian Catholic University (ACU) since 2008. Professor Craven has served on a wide range of public bodies. He chaired the Teacher Education Ministerial Advisory Group and was Deputy Chair of the COAG Reform Council.

He is a member of the Teacher Education Expert Standing Committee (TEESC) for the Australian Institute for Teaching and School Leadership (AITSL) and the NSW Vice-Chancellors’ Committee (NSWVCC) representative on the NSW Education Standards Authority (NESA) Board’s Initial Teacher Education Committee (ITEC).

Within the Australian Catholic community, Professor Craven is a member of the National Catholic Education Commission (NCEC) and he was a member of the Truth Justice and Healing Council. He is also a member of the National School Resourcing Board as the NCEC’s representative, a member of the Club of Ambassadors for the Pontifical Foundation Gravissimum Educationis and the International Representative to the Board of the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities (ACCU).

Professor Craven is a Fellow of the Australian Academy of Law and was appointed by Pope Francis as a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St Gregory the Great in 2015 and as a Consultor to the Holy See’s Congregation for Catholic Education in 2016. In the 2017 Australia Day Honours List Professor Craven was named an Officer in the General Division of the Order of Australia.

Greg is a proud CEDA trustee.
Professor Judy Raper
Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Research and Innovation), University of Wollongong

Professor Judy Raper joined the University of Wollongong in 2008 with extensive management and research administration experience in other Australian and American universities. She has served on the ARC Engineering and Earth Sciences Panel at the University of New South Wales, and was Division Director for Chemical, Bioengineering, Environmental and Transport Systems at the National Science Foundation in Washington, DC.

Professor Raper is a chemical engineer of 40 years standing with expertise in air and water pollution control, particle technology, research and education.

Professor Raper followed her undergraduate and PhD degrees from the University of New South Wales with postdoctoral research at the University of Cambridge in the UK, working at the Atomic Energy Research Establishment at Harwell. She taught at both the University of Newcastle and the University of New South Wales before joining the University of Sydney as Dean of Engineering where she revolutionised the undergraduate engineering programs.

Recognition of Judy’s achievements includes the Shedden Pacific Award for the Young Chemical Engineer of the Year (1992), the EA Professional Engineer of the Year (1997) and the Avon Spirit of Achievement Award for Science (1998). She was elected as a Fellow of the Australian Academy of Technology and as an Honorary Fellow of Engineers Australia in 2003. In 2013, Professor Raper was listed as one of Australia’s most influential women, and as one of Australia’s most influential engineers for three consecutive years (2013-2015). In 2017, she won the Chemeca Medal for distinguished service to the practice of Chemical Engineering.
Dr Michael Spence AC
Vice-Chancellor and Principal, University of Sydney

Dr Michael Spence is the Vice-Chancellor and Principal of the University of Sydney, a leading Australian university, and the first to open its doors in Australia in 1850. It currently has 6,000 staff and 61,000 students.

Under his leadership, the University has forged a distinctive and successful strategy focused on the transformation of the undergraduate education; strengthening our disciplinary and interdisciplinary research; improving the culture of the institution around core values; simplifying the organisational design; redevelopment of the campus; increasing investment in research and teaching infrastructure and ensuring financial sustainability.

In 2017, Dr Spence was awarded a Companion of the Order of Australia in the Australia Day Honours List for eminent service to leadership of the tertiary education sector, to the advancement of equitable access to educational opportunities, to developing strategic programs focused on multidisciplinary research, and to the Anglican Church of Australia.

An alumnus of the University of Sydney, Dr Spence graduated with first-class honours in English, Italian and law. His other languages include Chinese and Korean. Dr Spence lectured in law at the University and worked for the Australian Copyright Council prior to undertaking doctoral studies at the University of Oxford. There, he obtained a Doctor of Philosophy and a Postgraduate Diploma in Theology. He became a Fellow of St Catherine's College at Oxford, and during his 20 years at the college he headed Oxford's law faculty and its Social Sciences division. He is internationally recognised in the field of intellectual property theory and his work includes articles and books on both intellectual property law and the law of obligations, with a critical focus on suggested ethical and economic justifications of the existing regimes.

The Vice-Chancellor of the University of Sydney is a leader in the higher education sector in Australia with access and influence at the highest levels of government.

about CEDA

CEDA is a respected independent national organisation with an engaged cross-sector membership. More than 750 of Australia’s leading businesses, organisations and academic institutions from around the country are members of CEDA. For more than 50 years, CEDA has delivered informed discourse and rigorous research to influence good public policy for Australia’s economic and social development.

Membership

Organisations join CEDA because CEDA delivers exposure to high level thought leadership, timely briefings on issues of economic importance, access to networking and brand reach through sponsorship and hosting opportunities. In addition to high profile public events, CEDA also delivers regular member only events for employees of member organisations and exclusive Trustee only boardroom briefings for senior executives from member organisations. These provide a unique opportunity for peer-to-peer knowledge exchange and for speakers and attendees to talk candidly on issues.

Research and policy

CEDA’s only agenda is to pursue good public policy to progress Australia’s economic and social development. Since 1960 CEDA has produced more than 3000 publications, research reports and articles highlighting emerging issues and directions in a diverse range of policy areas. Research in 2018 will focus on inequality; community attitudes to economic growth and development; and a major review of the purpose of economic growth and development in Australia.
